Niall Sheehan
Senior Digital (Cloud) Transformation Leader
General Motors

Niall Sheehan leads the private cloud initiative for General Motors as part of the company's digital transformation journey. He's focused on a developer-first experience that delivers innovative automated services, significant IT productivity and industry-leading technical platforms integrated with DevOps and design-thinking initiatives. He holds a PhD in business management specializing in business transformation.